POLE POSITION

— One of the many exciting new games
from ATARI!

PLUS:
PLAYER OF THE YEAR
— Regional Finals • AND MUCH MORE!

PLAYER OF

We had an overwhelming response from young and not so young alike to take up the challenge to become the 1983 Atari Player of the Year – and maybe go on to become the International Champion and win a fabulous trip for two to the 1984 Olympic Games in Los Angeles. From the mass of entries we received from the local level on to the final, the top scorers were invited to play Ms Pac-Man at one of the six regional finals held around the country this summer.

The entries were divided into over-18 finalists and under-eighteen finalists from Boots, Woolworths, John Menzies, Greens and the Independent stores and in most areas four independent winners and one from each of the multiple stores qualified for the National Finals to be held on 20 August at the Gamden Palace disco in London.

Each regional finalist received a special finalist badge and a Ma Pac-Man T-shirt and lots of Atari goodies were given away from the Owner's Club Desk. Each winner received a Centipede cartridge from Brian Claridge, Promotions Manager of Atari and an invitation to an expenses-paid weekend to attend the national final.

Well done and thank you to everyone who played in the regional finals – not only the winners – it was great to see you all!

There'll be a full report on the National Final in the next Bulletin – so watch this space.

NEW RELEASES

POLE POSITION* — REAL BEHIND-THE-WHEEL THRILLS!

POLE POSITION will be one of the most exciting Atari VCS games to hit the TV screen in 1983 with its colourful and accurate first person game play reproducing all the fast action of a Grand Prix race.

You must first prove yourself in a qualifying lap and your performance in this determines your position in the eight car field.

With a speedometer that goes up to 200mph Pole Position provides some pretty fast action.

Pole Position features a fabulous change of perspective as you wheel around dangerous corners (with tyres screeching), realistic background scenery and loadings and an extraordinary graphic crash sequence.

Suggested retail price: £29.99 including VAT Available: October, 1983

*Pole Position is engineered and designed by Namco Ltd. Manufactured under license by Atari Inc. Trademark and copyright Namco 1982.

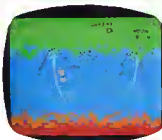

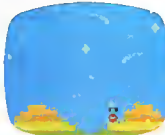

SORCERER'S APPRENTICE™ — THE TIMELESS WORLD OF FANTASIA

Help Mickey keep the cavern from flooding by zapping falling stars and streaking comets, then bailing out the cavern before the magical brooms rush in. There are two scenes in SORCERER'S APPRENTICE — the Mountain Scene and the Cavern Scene — and you can move Mickey back and forth to play one magical game.

You score points for catching and hitting stars and meteors and stopping the brooms by running Mickey into them. When you hear a "swosh" sound, a star has made a broom, and the SORCERER'S APPRENTICE tune signals a broom has dumped a bucket of water — so watch out, because when the Cavern is flooded, the game is over.

There are four game variations in SORCERER'S APPRENTICE and it will be available in the UK in September at a suggested retail price of £19.99 inc. VAT.

*TM and © 1983 Walt Disney Productions Inc.

JUNGLE HUNT* — HEROIC ACTION IN THE DEEPEST, DARKEST JUNGLE!

The Beautiful Marden has been captured by savage cannibals and it is your task to help Safari Sam rush to her rescue.

Using your joystick, you must guide him through four scenes of extreme danger — swinging from vine to vine in the Deadly Forest, swimming through the crocodile-infested Riptide River (remembering occasionally to surface for air), avoiding crushing boulders and finally jumping over poisoned spears in the Cannibal Camp to rescue the captured maiden.

JUNGLE HUNT has two skill levels and each scene is increasingly more difficult than the one before. As jungle hunting requires such unusual skill, you start with five lives. You'll earn a bonus life for scoring over 10,000 points.

JUNGLE HUNT will be available in the UK in September 1983.

Suggested retail price: £24.99 including VAT

*Indicative trademark and copyright of Taito Amusement Corporation 1982.

GALAXIAN* — DEFEND THE GALAXY

Another favourite space-age classic hits the Atari VCS shores in the form of GALAXIAN.

This game cartridge is not for the faint-hearted. The terrifying GALAXIAN fleet has entered your realm and you will need all the foresight and expert marksmanship you can muster to survive its lethal attacks.

These monstrous winged ships will attack you in faster and faster waves, constantly changing their battle formation, sometimes in groups of one, two or even three.

The Atari VCS version of GALAXIAN has retained all the superb arcade effects with fantastic graphics and sounds all adding up to a really exciting game. There are five different difficulty levels so the challenge keeps growing.

Suggested retail price: £29.99 including VAT Available: September, 1983

* GALAXIAN is a trademark of Bally Midway Manufacturing Co. Licensed by Namco-America Inc.

KANGAROO™*

Help mother Kangaroo rescue her baby from his cruel captivity in a treehouse cage.

To reach him, Mother Kangaroo must climb up ladders, leap over logs, jump from branch to branch, duckling falling apples and punching mischievous monkeys as she goes. The challenge gets tougher as the game progresses and the monkeys multiply and get more and more clever.

Mother Kangaroo moves by the joystick — pull it towards you to make her duck, away to make her leap. Press the red fire button and Mother Kangaroo throws a punch with her boxing gloves.

Every monkey Mother Kangaroo punches you score 200 points, but if a monkey touches her, she falls from the tree and you lose a life. You will score points for eating fruit and punching apples and she can ring the bell at the top of the screen to replenish the fruit.

KANGAROO will be hopping into the UK in October.

Suggested retail price: £24.99 including VAT.

* Manufactured under license from Sun Electronics Corporation.

COMING SOON!

DONALD DUCK'S SPEEDBOAT™* — ANCHORS AWAY!

Watch out for the obstacles as you race Donald Duck's speedboat through the course to win the Gold Grand Prize Award!

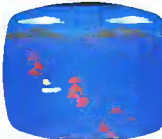

The faster you race, the higher you score, but hitting rocks and buoys will stop the boat and you'll have to reverse to get started and lose valuable time. Seaweed, fish and the wicked whirlpool will slow you down — so keep away from those obstacles.

DONALD DUCK'S SPEEDBOAT has six game variations and depending on how many points you score, you will win the bronze, silver or Gold Grand Prize Award at the end.

DONALD DUCK'S SPEEDBOAT will be available in September.

Suggested retail price: £19.99 including VAT.

* TM and © 1983 Walt Disney Productions Inc.

DIG-DUG™*

Deep down underground, DIG-DUG, the miner, is digging for his life.

Using the joystick, help him to dig his own maze to escape from Pooka™, the animated balloon and Fygart™, the fire-breathing dragon. When you get near the evil enemies press the fire button to blow them up, but speed and accuracy are all important. If you're not quick or thorough enough, DIG-DUG will lose a life.

Outwit the monsters by ambushing them in a tunnel and then drop rocks on them. After two rocks have fallen, viscous fruit and vegetables will appear which all increase the points.

But watch out as Pooka and Fygart could turn into ghosts at any time and travel at great speed.

Being a miner is no fun with these monsters around, so you'll need piles of currency to keep alive underground.

DIG-DUG will be available in the UK in October/November 1983.

Suggested retail price: £29.99.

* DIG-DUG is created and designed by Namco Ltd., manufactured under license by Atari, Inc.

Trademark and copyright Namco 1983. Copyright 1983 Atari, Inc. All rights reserved.

WATCH OUT FOR...

BATTLE ZONE™

Another fabulous arcade original, BATTLE ZONE, will be available for your Atari VCS in the UK in October/November of this year.

You are a tank commander being sieged by other tanks and russios which lurk behind hills and buildings on the screen. Destroy them before they destroy you!

To help you with your mission, you have a target site and a radar screen which indicates the position of the enemy and sometimes you can destroy them before they even see you.

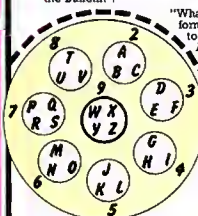

BATTLE ZONE is a one player game with one level which becomes progressively more difficult as the game proceeds.

START ☐ STOP ☐

Here's a Puzzle for Atarians to try, which has been sent in by Robert Stockton from Dudley, who said it was his "second attempt at getting into the Bulletin".

"What you have to do is to link up the letters to form the names of Atari cartridge but you have to start and stop as indicated to link them up. Altogether there are 18 cartridges to find, and they go in every direction except diagonally. Each letter may only be used once."

Here's a puzzle with a difference, sent in by Simon Aspinall who lives in Cawood, North Yorks.

"The numbers above stand for the letters on the telephone dial. All you have to do is substitute the letters for the numbers. Sounds easy, doesn't it? But if you take a second look, you'll find that a number could stand for more than one letter; eg The number 2 could be A, B or C. All you have to do is choose the right letter. If you do this correctly you'll have the names of 15 'ace' Atari cartridges."

Test your brain-power!

Here are two Puzzles sent in by Stephen Moody, From Belfast

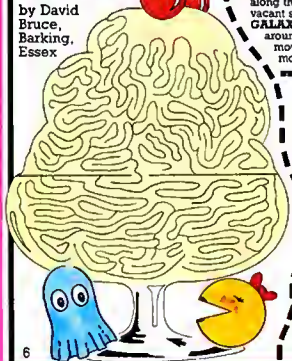

When all the letters have been guessed correctly and written into the grid, they spell a great cartridge. The last line is a clue!

My first's in pheasant but not in stew,
My second's in hold and handcuffs, too,
My third's not in me, but you!
My fourth you'll see in drake and deck.
My fifth's a part of iron and chain,
My sixth's in mind and also in brain,
My last is in this extraordinary game —
This once dead thing shall rise again!

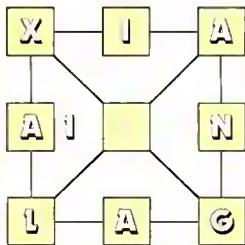

Help Ms Pac-Man through the maze to the cherries

by David Bruce, Barking, Essex

Stephen's second Puzzle is called "A Galaxian Trick". "Cut out eight pieces of paper and write on each a different letter of the word GALAXIAN. Then place them on the appropriate squares on the diagram. The problem is to move the paper slips along the lines, one at a time, into the vacant space left, until the word GALAXIAN reads in the reverse direction around the outside, starting at the square marked 'I'. You cannot, of course, move more than one letter on a square at one time. What is the least number of moves you can do it in?"

With our Owners Club membership rapidly growing, we've noticed how many members live in unusual places. When writing to us they often use abbreviations for the places where they live. At first, we found this quite confusing, and had to rack our brains for hours trying to guess the names. Now we've become quite expert! Philippa, our Owners Club Manager, thought it'd be a good idea to ask you a few, so see if you can get these:

W-a-M NuT
IoM
S-o-S

IoW
A-u-L
SIA
KuT

BoD
N-u-L
A-d-i-L
S-u-A

They are all abbreviations for places in the British Isles, eg S-o-T = Stoke-on-Trent.

Answers in next Bulletin (AB27).

Philippe, Jackie and Lou Wish to thank all of you for sending in letters
Puzzles and Pix
But better still, Poems, too!

We liked them all such a lot
In fact, we nearly forgot
That the Owners Club
Had so many stars
Ignore their talent we must not!

So here are some of the few
We have chosen just for you
I'm sure you'll agree
They're exceedingly good
Any more? Please send them in too!

By Andrew Wood, Large, Ayrshire

Atari is the best buy,
If you read on I'll tell you why,
It's fast, famous, great fun as well,
Learn in closer I've things to tell.

In Centipede the fun is fast,
A thing is slithering through the grass,
A spider jumps in from the air,
And catches you in a deadly snare.

In Phoenix you're fighting things
from space,
and trying to save the human race,
Cosmosal bullets are swooping down,
And shooting birds at the ground.

In ET you must help your friend,
Make a telephone to send
A message to all of his mates,
Asking to be taken back to space.

Now that I have told you why
Atari is the best buy
You will agree it's just the thing,
To make you dance and make you sing.

We know you've all got a great sense of humour, so how about a few jokes? Brian Doddler from Nervous Ayrshire has written in with this one:

Did he hear about the man who bought a rocket for his wife's birthday?
She was over the moon.

And from Alan Davidson, Glasgow.

Patient: Doctor, Doctor, I feel like a snooker ball. Doctor: Go to the end of the queue.

Patient: Doctor, I feel like a ball. Doctor:
Go home and I'll give you a ring.

Patient: Doctor, I feel like a pair of curtains. Doctor: Pull yourself together man.

Patient: Doctor, I feel like a bridge. Doctor: What's come over you. Patient: Three buses and a motorbike.

Patient: Doctor, my husband thinks he's a hen. Doctor: Why didn't you tell me sooner? Patient:
We needed the eggs.

Patient: Doctor, I feel like a pack of cards. Doctor: Sit down and I'll deal with you later.

Our thanks to Joe Slater who has sent us this wonderful picture of Mrs
Dorothy Slater, a real Atari enthusiast. Dorothy, at the age of 21 (and a bit!!!), never misses her daily Atari practice. Her favourite game is Video Pinball, and I'm sure she's a real "wizard" at it.
How about the caption
"You're never too old for Atari!", suggests Joe. We quite agree! And thank you for showing our "not so young" members how much fun you can have with Atari video games!

By Mohamed Lakhi, London.

I think Atari is the best
That is something I must confess.
I find it good in every way
I play with it by night and day.
The Atari Bulletin I regularly receive
Have some bargains I cannot believe.
So the only thing I can end up saying Is Good Luck Atarians and happy playing.

By Wayne Bates, Cannock, Staffs.

Atari, Atari is a wonderful thing
If you have any queries give them a ring.

With lots of games for us to play,
Pac-man, Defender 'Oh I say',
Shoot the aliens on Space
Invaders,

Try out your skill on Star Raiders.
Lots and lots of things to do,
How about Asteroids and ET, too.
I end the poem here to say
Give Atari a big 'Hurray'.

By Andrew Lottay, Saiton Coldfield.

"Atari is the one for me
With Defender and ET.
Centipede is coming out in June
The roses you prune.
Smashing Tennis is coming in July.

Solely on skill will you rely,
Really super Football too.
The other team will be after you.
The world of Atari you have seen.

Now go tell your friends where you have been.
They will all be jealous of you,
And they will buy an Atari, too."

By Peter Lambert
from Stockport.

"When the day was Christmas,
Guess what Santa bought for me,
It was what I had hoped for.
It was an Atari.

I plugged it in the telly,
And had a super time.
I went given with it
The brilliant Pac-man.

I played it with my brothers,
I played it with my Dad.
I played it for SOLID HOURS!
It drove my mother mad!

But when you do get started,
You just cannot stop,
So join the Atari Owners
Club.
It helps you keep on top."

scored 2,306,530 in 5 hrs.

Well done lads — fantastic scores! Prizes and deserve them!

Now, for all those who weren't lucky enough to

As a few of you pointed out, there was a small mistake on Lee Jackson's Defender score (AB25). It was, in fact, 53,032,230.

This was one of the many letters to beam itself up to the ATARI CONTROL Spaceship since the last Bulletin. It's an exciting true story by Michael Finn from Blackburn in Lancashire:

Our school also owns a VCS, Blackmoor Special School for the physically handicapped. Not long ago I organised a Space Invaders competition with 20 entrants. The week before the competition the pupils talked about little else and there was speculation on who would be in the final. The hot favourite seemed to be a boy named Stephen Wilson and I came in as second favourite.

After preliminary matches four people were knocked out to make the number 16. During the ensuing three rounds the better players played not up to standard and Mary Ayrton, third favourite went out in the second round. Some heights, playing above their capacity. In the first round, Stephen Wilson played magnificently breaking my previously held high score.

As predicted the final was between Stephen Wilson and me. During the day of the final the clubs sprang up. The Finny Fan Club (Michael Finn) and The Willy Fan Club (Stephen Wilson).

We found a larger room to play the "out-of-three" competition. Spectators included several teachers and the Headmaster, who had followed the results over the fortnight-long tournament.

I lost the toss and had to play two out of the three games on the unfavourable Purple side. The tension to me it seemed similar to the Embassy World Snooker Championship. I lost my nerve and lost the first, causing the Willy Fan Club to leap up and down.

Masood, taking on the job of my Manager, told me to keep my cool and warned me that if I lost the next it would be over. It worked and I pulled back to one all. In the last, Stephen seemed to go to pieces and I became Champion of Blackmoor!

DIARY DATES: EXHIBITIONS

If you missed us at the Ideal Home Exhibition, why not come and see us at two other exhibitions coming up before the end of the year.

17-24 September — The Great Home Entertainment Spectacular — Olympia, London.

Hope to see you there!

The all-day grand opening of Computer Vision in Chiswick, London, was held on June 4th and a super time was had by all who participated in the event. Players could enter the Ms Pac-Man competition which had been organised for the day and all proceeds went to Capital Radio's Help A London Child.

BOYS BEAT OUT ALIENS

Between January and June, over 10,000 boys around the country defended their clubs against an alien invasion, and then celebrated their victory with a week-end in London's Hilton Hotel. It was all part of the Atari/Boys' Club Defender Challenge, a video games contest organised by Atari in conjunction with the National Association of Boys' Clubs.

More than 800 clubs took up the challenge and their members battled with the aliens for a place at the national final held at London's Hilton Hotel on Saturday 23 June. Each of the 15 finalists was a weekend in London with a full entertainment package including a trip to see "Return of the Jedi" and a day at Thorpe Entertainment Park. Pictured is the winner, 10 year old Anthony Aroona who received an Atari 850 computer for the Springfield Boys' Club in East London from pop celebrities Gary Numan and David van Day.

A further word of warning...

Some of you may again be going to America and seeing Atari cartridges that are not being sold in the UK yet. Beware — the cartridges and VCS bought in the States do not work in the UK because our television system (PAL) is different to that of the USA. Hang on! The cartridges arrive in the UK very quickly!

$200... $200... $200...

The Atari 5200 will NOT now be launched in the United Kingdom. But don't worry, our fast moving business of high technology has given rise to even better product opportunities of which we shall keep you faithfully posted in the bulletin!!
